

Examination for Architects in Canada
 Examen des architectes du Canada

Table of Equivalencies

The following indicates ARE 3.1 divisions for which ExAC equivalency is granted

ExAC Section 1 Content of ExAC Section 1 : <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Programming - Site and Environmental Analysis - Cost Management - Coordinating Engineering Systems - Schematic Design - Design Development 	ExAC Section 2 Content of ExAC Section 2 : <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - National Building Code 2005 Edition 	ExAC Section 3 Content of ExAC Section 3 : <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Final Project 	ExAC Section 4 Content of ExAC Section 4: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Bidding and Contract Negotiations - Construction Phase – Office - Construction Phase – Site - Project Management
v To obtain ExAC Section 1 equivalency, an Intern must have passed ALL of the following seven ARE 3.1 divisions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Pre-Design - General Structures - Mechanical & Electrical Systems - Building Design/Materials and Methods - Construction Documents & Services - Site Planning - Building Planning 	v ExAC Section 2 No equivalency	v To obtain ExAC Section 3 equivalency, an Intern must have passed ALL of the following five ARE 3.1 divisions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - General Structures - Mechanical & Electrical Systems - Building Design/Materials and Methods - Construction Documents & Services - Building Technology 	v To obtain ExAC Section 4 equivalency, an Intern must have passed ALL of the following three ARE 3.1 divisions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Pre-design - Building Design/Materials and Methods - Construction Documents & Services

Note

You must ask for equivalency when you register for the ExAC.
 You must fill the Registration Form and send it to your Provincial/Territorial Licensing Authority.
 The Committee of the ExAC will not recognize equivalencies for any of the ARE 4.0 divisions.